WHY HEXAKILL

Trained experts, not just sprayers.

Meet Jay Kalola

Jay leads the technical side of Hexakill and is trained at the National Institute of Plant Health Management (NIPHM), Hyderabad. Every job starts with understanding the pest, not reaching for a spray.

Spray and leave	The Hexakill way
✕ Sprays the rooms you can see	✓ Traces where pests hide, breed and get in
✕ Same treatment for every job	✓ Method chosen for the pest and the property
✕ A price with no idea of the problem	✓ Scope and price agreed before work starts
✕ Gone once the spraying stops	✓ Aftercare advice, plus follow-up as agreed

Why pests can't wait

Termites never clock off
A colony feeds day and night, out of sight, travelling through soil and mud tubes.

Their teeth never stop growing
Rats gnaw constantly to keep their teeth down, and that includes wires and pipes.

Flies carry what they land on
House flies move from waste to food, and are linked with diseases like cholera and typhoid.

One sighting is rarely one cockroach
A single German cockroach egg case can hold 30 to 40 young.

From water to biting in about a week
Any standing water can produce biting mosquitoes in roughly 7 to 10 days.

Bed bugs can outlast you
They can survive for months without feeding, so leaving a room empty does not work.
